The Alligator® is the brainchild of innovator Benny Engdahl, who got tired of chopping onions when he was making his favourite dish – Öland dumplings filled with pork. They require large quantities of potatoes and chopped onions, and everyone knows that chopping onions is a tearful affair, but it need not be any longer.

Benny Engdahl contacted his friend, graduate engineer Nikola Knezevic, who became responsible for the technical development of the product. The name Alligator came when his cousins 8 year old daughter said about the prototype: "Daddy, it looks just like an alligator with it's jaws open!"... and the brand name was a fact.

For almost 20 years Alligator has been designing products that help simplify people's lives. Today Alligator offers products for food preparation. Alligator has always been committed to a continuous review of new materials to improve the performance of our products and meet consumer demand, we're firmly committed to the safety and well-being.

Alligator follows the recommendations and guidelines of governmental regulatory agencies regarding materials that may be used in our high quality products. We also acknowledge the attitudes of consumers regarding products containing BPA. In its continuous search for the best materials for use in our products, Alligator has found other materials with improved performance characteristics (Tritan) that have been approved by regulators to be BPA free to replace polycarbonate.
